PR Release

In 2007, Peggy Tabor Millin, MA, launched a new venture for her business ClarityWorks, Inc. by offering her services as a speaker and teacher to conference centers, conferences, and organizations. Millin's presentations and workshops are appropriate to any groups interested in creativity, the process, inspiration, and motivation to write, and/or the healing power of writing. Although for the last ten years, Millin has restricted her writing classes and retreats to women, her new venture is open to mixed-gender groups.

Millin presents her knowledge as a writer and writing coach with enthusiasm and humor. She conveys the message that when writers focus on telling their personal truths, rather than on publication, the quality of their writing soars and in the process, their lives improve as well.

Millin's book Mary's Way was published in the US and Mexico. She has published short fiction and nonfiction in various magazines and literary journals, including Thema and Native Peoples. She holds degrees in English and the psychoneurology of learning and communication disorders. She is currently working on a book on the writing process and the feminine, as well as a novel. She has been teaching through ClarityWorks, Inc. for over ten years. Learn more at www.clarityworksonline.com.
